Freezing Pipe Warning

Attention all Owners;

As the temperature falls throughout the winter season PLEASE make sure your heating is working properly. If you leave on vacation or your unit is vacant make sure all windows are closed and that the heat is left at a reasonable level to prevent freezing pipes. Have someone check your unit frequently. If your unit is vacant make sure utility bills are kept up to date until the new owner takes possession.

The Corporation's deductible for all water losses can be up to $50,000.00 and you will be assessed that amount if you cause the loss. Check your personal policy to make sure you are covered to that level. If you are not, be aware you will still be personally responsible for the deductible.

Thank you for your attention to this and Stay Warm!

And remember:

Keep those windows and doors CLOSED!
